Vocabulary Constabulary (1)

Are you a good detective? The Vocabulary Constabulary needs your help.

You can often detect the meaning of a word or phrase by reading it in context, that is, by reading the other words around it in a piece of text. Find the page, article or paragraph in TPP and then detect the word or phrase that solves the clue to its meaning. The number of letters and the starting letter of the solution are in brackets after each clue.

LOCATION, Article/Paragraph	CLUE (number of letters, first letter)
1. P3 Pro-Russian Republics	Made an attack in return for a similar attack. (10,r)

Garda Makeover (Page 4)

No smokeing, no chewing gum, no hands in pockets, no jeans or runners, shirts tucked in, top button closed, no long sleeves rolled up, no visible tatoos, hair short above the ear, collar-length or tied-up for femails, no hair dye with 'unnatural colours', only one set of small stud earrings ...

School rules? No – just some rules from the new Garda dress-code. Old-fashioned? The Garda point out how up to date they are – for example, gardaí can now grow beerds, Sikhs can wear their turbans and Muslim women can wear the hijab under the Garda cap as long as their faces are visible.

It's the 100th anniversery of An Garda Síochána this year and only the third time they have updated the uniform. The new uniform includes a two-tone soft-shell jacket, a two-tone waterprooffe jacket, a blue polo shirt and operational trousers. No more shirts and ties, except on formal occasions.

More practickal and comfortable, yes, but reactions from gardaí were not good. One said (anonomously): 'I think they're awful.' Another: 'The light blue polo shirt is horrendus. What's wrong with navy?' Another: 'The two-tone jackets are like unused costumes from Star Trek.'

So, what do you think of it?

Hidden Mosaic (Page 6)

Last month, a large Roman mosaic, thought to be around 1,800 years old, was discovered on a construction sight near London's tallest building, the Shard.

Archeologists from the Museum of London Archaeology (MOLA) were working on excavashions at an old city-centre carpark when they came across the artwork. They think it was part of an anciant Roman dineing room belonging to a Roman mansio (hotel).

Speaking to news outlet CNN, Sophie Jackson from MOLA said, 'It is a really, really special find,' and went on to explain how incredible it was that the mosaic had survived all this time.

Although further investagations are still being carried out on what is believed to be the largest area of Roman mosaic found in London in more than half a sentury, it is hoped the amazing artwork can go on publick display in the near future.

Did you know?

A mosaic is an art piece (usually a picture or pattern) made from small pieces of coloured stone, glass or ceramic that is glued onto a floor or a wall.

In Irish we don't just say 'Welcome' – we say, 'A hundred thousand welcomes!' And now we are giving a warm welcome to immigrants living illegally in Ireland.

They can now live and work legally here if they have been here for at least five years, or three years if they have children. They can even apply for Irish citizenship, provided that they have no criminal record.

There are at least 17,000 illegal immigrants here (including 3000 children) – it's probably much more – but there will be no cap (limit) on the number of people allowed to stay. (Of course, this number doesn't include members of the EU, like our Polish community, who already have a legal right to live and work here.)

Many of our immigrants are fleeing from war, danger or poverty and badly need shelter here. Imagine their joy and relief at this wonderful opportunity to become legal citizens of Ireland.

We need to always remember that millions of Irish people had to emigrate to countries like America during the Great Famine and other hard times. So, we're really just paying it back.

Read through the words in the Word Bank first and make sure you understand them. Then, read the article. Make sure you think about the best place to put a word, not the first place. Careful as you go, as some words may fit in more than one place, while other words will only suit one.

The Speed of Light

How fast does light travel? Scientists have known for over a hundred _____ (1) that light always travels at the same speed: 299,792,458 metres per second. Because it is always the same, it is called a constant.

The speed of light is the _____ (2) speed that all energy, matter and information in the universe can travel at. If you could travel at the speed of light, you could go _____ (3) the Earth 7.5 times in one second.

To understand light, you have to know that what we call light counts for all things visible to humans. Animals, on the other hand, can see different types of light. For example, dogs can see only _____ (4) of grey, while some insects can see light from the ultraviolet part of the spectrum which is _____ (5) to us. The key thing to remember is that our light is what scientists call 'visible light'.

Visible light is only one small part of a family of waves called electromagnetic radiation. These waves _____ (6) radio waves, which have very long wavelengths and both gamma rays and cosmic rays, which have very short wavelengths. Visible light is near the _____ (7) of the spectrum.

It takes about seven _____ (8) for light from the sun to reach Earth, and over four years to get to the nearest star. It would take a particle of light over 100,000 years to get from one side of our _____ (9) to the other side.

All those times measure light moving through a vacuum. Light is slowed down as it passes through other _____ (10) such as the atmosphere, water, or a diamond. Light moves at about 124,000,000 metres per second through a diamond.

Bill Stephens was from Fairview in Dublin, and after spending time as a drummer in a band, he decided to seek fame as a lion tamer. His _____ (1) was to travel to America with his lion show, and so he bought three lions and travelled Ireland with the circus.

The act saw Bill enter the lions' cage to feed them from his own mouth and place his head between their _____ (2) jaws. He kept his animals in a pen behind the old cinema in Fairview, and he would often walk his lions on waste ground in the area.

One Sunday in November 1951, as Bill opened a cage to feed a lioness, she made a break for it and escaped. Bill was known as a _____ (3) man, and he chased her down the middle of the road. People were warned to stay indoors as Bill and the local Gardaí tried to catch the _____ (4) animal.

The lioness mauled a 16-year-old mechanic, but soon Bill cornered her in a nearby field. He stood face to face with the animal as schoolchildren _____ (5) walls for a closer look. Spooked by the noise of the crowd, the lioness lashed out and sank her teeth into Bill's shoulder. Knowing she would be more dangerous after _____ (6) blood, Bill had to tell the Gardaí to shoot and kill the lioness.

Bill and the story of the 'Great Fairview Escape' made _____ (7) all over the world, and the attention made Bill want to push his act to the limit. He wanted it to be more dangerous than ever, and soon a circus scout from America came to Dublin to watch Bill's act. This was his big chance to _____ (8), and he wore a new suit for the occasion.

Bill entered the lion's cage to perform his usual stunts, but the lion _____ (9) on him immediately, and the other animal handlers couldn't subdue it. When they did, Bill Stephens was dead at the age of 28.

It is said that his new suit may have had a part to play in his death. The lions trusted Stephens, but the new suit had none of his _____ (10) on it, and so the lion didn't recognise him as he entered the cage.

Not many countries can identify with a colour the way _____ (1) does with green. In fact, Ireland is often called the 'Emerald Isle' thanks to its lush green countryside. It even looks _____ (2) from space. We may _____ (3) about all the rain, but this, along with the _____ (4) temperatures, is what gives Ireland its 'Forty Shades of Green', as the song says.

The Celtic harp is the _____ (5) symbol of Ireland. However, the shamrock is recognised all over the world as the icon or _____ (6) of Ireland. The word 'shamrock' comes from the Irish word 'seamróg' and means 'little clover'. The _____ (7) is actually a type of clover and can be found in _____ (8) and gardens all over Ireland.

The shamrock has _____ (9) leaves and, according to legend, it was used by St Patrick to teach people about the Holy Trinity (three persons in the one God). The three-leafed plant is _____ (10) by Irish people on their lapels on St Patrick's Day, but it can also be seen on Dublin lamp posts, as well as on the tail of Aer Lingus aeroplanes.

Drama Time

Each month, we invite you and your class to base your drama lesson on a theme from The Primary Planet.

This month, we are turning our attention to the news section, both national and world news, and using this as our starting point. We challenge you to create a short piece of drama, involving an array of characters, to demonstrate one of the news stories covered. To help you, should you need it, we have provided some ideas below.

Idea 1: Find a partner and pretend to be modelling the new Garda uniform.

Idea 2: Create your own list of storm names – don't forget to follow the rules set out in the article on page 5 – and present a weather report on a series of storms battering the country.

Idea 3: Pretend you're one of the builders who discovered the mosaic in London – what did you tell your family that evening? How did you describe the experience?

Idea 4: Find a partner and pretend one of you is Leona Maguire and the other a reporter. What questions would you ask the LPGA winner in an interview?

Have Your Say

Based on articles from this month's magazine, we want you to think about some of the issues that arise. Remember, when you are trying to put forward an opinion, or an argument, make sure you know your facts and figures and be clear in how you feel about a certain topic and why. Here are some questions and statements you and your class might like to consider thinking about and discussing. Some you will agree with, some you clearly won't!

1. We should start camel racing in Ireland.

2. Scottish tigers make good pets.

3. Earth hour is a waste of time. It won't make a difference.

4. I don't think scientists should be able to use animal organs in people.

5. Everything I read online is true and real!

6. I don't think the pakapeka-tou-roa should have been allowed to win 'Bird of the Year'.

7. The hillside mural in Peru is an eyesore.

8. Jeff Bezos has earned every penny. Therefore, he should be allowed to do whatever he wants.

Did You Know?

Every issue of your Primary Planet is packed full of facts and figures. Why not record the top 4 things that you learned from this issue. When you do, make sure to create an illustration to go with each one. When you are finished, share and discuss your choices with your classmates. We have added our favourite one below. You'll see I didn't just copy it from TPP, I wrote it out in my own words. Always a great idea when doing a project.

Did You Know?

New Zealanders choose a bird in their annual Bird of the Year Awards, but this year's winner – the pekapeka-tou-roa – proved to be a controversial choice. It is a bat, not a bird. When the winner was announced, there were a lot of disgruntled birdwatchers in New Zealand.
